

Address Policy:

A physical address must be provided on all accounts even if you have a Post Office Box mailing address. All members of Allegheny Metal Federal Credit Union are required to inform the credit union of any address or telephone number change. The owner or joint owner on an account may inform the credit union of an address change in any one of the following manners:

- Post Office notification. The notice provided for an address correction request.
- In person. Credit union staff must verify the identity of the owner as stated in our CIP policy or verify the person through the photo ID software in our computer system.
- Through the mail. A written request signed and dated by the owner or joint owner.
- Via the Internet. Email address must be on file.
- No over the telephone changes.

Bad Address:

When correspondence is sent to a member and the correspondence is returned to the credit union marked: NO FORWARDING ADDRESS/UNABLE TO DELIVER, an effort will be made to contact the member through one of the following means but not limited to:

- Social security search
- Loan applications
- New account card/membership card
- Employers
- Relatives

A file will be kept on all correspondence returned for bad address. If a member cannot be located, the account will be coded bad address. If a member is located through our research, an address verification form will be sent to the member.

The procedure for address verification will be as follows: If a member cannot be located, a $5.00 per month bad address fee will be debited from the member's account. This fee will be debited semiannually until the member notifies the credit union of their correct address.

A notice of this policy will be placed in the newsletter yearly and posted in the lobby of the credit union to encourage our members to keep the credit union informed of their correct address.

We now offer E-Lending with secure signing and encrypted emails.

This is an easy and convenient way to apply for, and sign loan documents. For more information on this new technology, send a message to our group email: amfcu4u@windstream.net. Any of our staff members will be happy to assist you.

We also offer Vacation Club & Holiday Club Accounts & one Year CD's.
